- E. SESSION SUMMARY

The site is positive, strong and a place for exploration. The target is conceptually optical and functions similar to that of a lens for people to see what they would not see ordinarily. The structure sits high/tall and is subject to universal changes. It may be related/affiliated with a government. This is a place which is productive and reaches high potential. It involves some type of resurrection to which it is imperative that people visit and witness. It is tranquil and quiet at this location and it is where transformation occurs.
